

5 Reasons Colic Calm is the Better Gripe Water

Normal 0 MicrosoftInternetExplorer4 /* Style Definitions */ table.MsoNormalTable {mso-style-name:"Table Normal"; mso-tstyle-rowband-size:0; mso-tstyle-colband-size:0; mso-style-noshow:yes; mso-style-parent:""; mso-padding-alt:0in 5.4pt 0in 5.4pt; mso-para-margin:0in; mso-para-margin-bottom:.0001pt; mso-pagination:widow-orphan; font-size:10.0pt; font-family:"Times New Roman";} If you are going through the tear-your-hair-out joys of baby colic, right about now, you may be looking for a remedy to try to calm your baby down. A very popular remedy that has been around for generations is gripe water. But which one is the best? Several brands exist in the marketplace. Some better than others. Here are 5 reasons why we believe Colic Calm is the better brand. What ingredients are missing

Some ingredients found in the other brands in the market are not good for your baby. So let's talk about what isn't in this one: -No alcohol. Obviously, you wouldn't want to give your baby anything with alcohol in it. But believe it or not, a few brands used to contain alcohol. To be fair, most brands no longer contain alcohol. But to be on the safe side, be sure to read the ingredients carefully! -No sodium bicarbonate (baking soda) The brand most readily available in drug stores contains this ingredient. Why shouldn't a baby have baking soda? Well, baking soda is known to impede your baby's ability to absorb both iron and folic acid. In infants, a folic acid deficiency sometimes slows growth rate. An iron deficiency may decrease alertness and slow learning ability. So, you really want to avoid gripe waters that contain baking soda. Baking soda is also an alkali and can upset your baby's delicate PH balance in your baby's stomach. -No concentrated herbal oils or extracts

Organic ingredients, properly diluted, will not harm your baby. However, many brands do not dilute the oils and extracts and instead contain concentrated amounts. For the solution to be safe and effective for your baby, the ingredients need to go through the dilution process that brings the original organic material down to a safe level for your baby to ingest. Follows strict FDA guidelines

Colic Calm is a homeopathic medicine and manufactured under strict FDA guidelines for quality, strength, purity and labeling. Some gripe water brands are considered dietary supplements. Which means they do not follow the strict FDA guidelines set forth to be considered a homeopathic medicine. That is probably why you may have heard of recalls of certain brands over the past few years. Has a 90% success rate in treating baby colic

Many happy parents have left testimonials all over the internet praising the benefits of using this brand. And it works as well for issues such as:

- teething
- acid reflux
- hiccups
- and baby gas.

All-natural ingredients

This brand contains good stuff. Just a few are listed below.

- Peppermint (which aids with gas relief and cramping)
- Chamomile (which calms and soothes as well as cures restlessness)
- Fennel (which is an anti-spasm and cramp reliever)
- Ginger (remember drinking Ginger Ale for a tummy ache as a child?) Works fast!

Probably one of the biggest pros of this brand of gripe water is it works incredibly fast. If seeing is believing, here is a way to see the fast results. If you do a search for "colic calm video", you will discover how fast this stuff really works. In just minutes, this baby transforms from fussy baby to calm and content baby. A true baby colic buster!

About the Author

Normal 0 MicrosoftInternetExplorer4 /* Style Definitions */ table.MsoNormalTable {mso-style-name:"Table Normal"; mso-tstyle-rowband-size:0; mso-tstyle-colband-size:0; mso-style-noshow:yes; mso-style-parent:""; mso-padding-alt:0in 5.4pt 0in 5.4pt; mso-para-margin:0in; mso-para-margin-bottom:.0001pt; mso-pagination:widow-orphan; font-size:10.0pt; font-family:"Times New Roman";} Check out a review of Colic Calm. Find out why it is the better gripe water.

Source: <http://www.colic-baby-bootcamp.com>